DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-4, 6 and 7, are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by Starliper U. S. Patent No. 1,151,131; see Figures, 1-3 and claims 1-3.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

Claims 1-7, are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Starliper U. S. Patent No. 1,151,131 in view of Henegar U. S. Patent No. 1,332,626 (cited by Applicant).

Starliper discloses Applicant's claimed combination of a ring structure formed of rigid material such as steel or other suitable metal comprising two partial rings to be joined together with joining means defining hooks formed on the front faces of each of said partial rings, said hooks engaging one behind the other in an axial sliding direction to form a closed ring structure. Note that each of the hooks including a dove shape portion (7) and an inclined edge (11), which is substantially the equivalent of concave and convex edges; see Figures 1-3; page 1, column 1, lines 44-56; column 2, lines 61-70, 86-91, and claims 1-3, Starliper does not clearly defines the hooks having concave edge . Henegar teaches the use of a ring part comprising two partial rings, wherein each of said partial rings having a hook defining a concave edge (6) and convex edge (10); see Figures 1, 2; page 1, column 2, lines 99-105, and claim 1. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the dove shape portion in each of the hooks in Starliper as a concave shape in the manner taught, disclosed and suggested by Henegar; especially, since such modification involves only routine skill in the art.

Furthermore, the particular shape of the various elements is considered to be no more than a matter of design choice obvious to one having ordinary skill within the art at the time the invention was made, especially, since it has been held that the particular change in shape of an element in a prior art device is such a change considered no more than an obvious matter of design choice to one having ordinary skill within in the art. See In Re Dailey, 357 F. 2d 669, 149 USPQ 47 (CCPA 1954).

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Applicant's attention is directed to the art cited herein, and of record, as showing structure related to Applicant's disclosed invention.
